

DEFIANCE IS FLUNG AT FRENCH ARMY BY GERMAN LABOR

Passive Resistance Against Occupation Spreading,
More Men Strike.

FRENCH THREATEN TO CUT OFF FOOD

Drastic Measures Will Be Taken Unless Miners
Resume Work.

Essen, Jan. 22.—German labor in the Ruhr coal fields, following orders from Berlin and the dictates of the union leaders, flung defiance into the face of the French today by refusing to mine any more coal. Large numbers of railway and mill workers already had quit. Coal production and mining belts of Westphalia. Orders to the miners to quit work were issued after a series of trade union meetings on Sunday.

The French military authorities warned the unions that drastic measures would be taken unless the men resume operations. They threatened to tie up the transportation of food and other necessities into the occupied zone, except the rations for the French occupational troops.

Today's Developments

Following out a policy of "passive resistance," German coal miners in the Rhineland today refused to work in the mines. Thousands of railroads have quit and mine operations and transportation in the occupied regions are paralyzed.

Marshal Foch in Paris advised a ministerial council upon further military measures that may be necessary to offset the effect of the general strike. Premier Poincaré presided. Gen. DeGoutte, French commander in chief in the Rhineland, refused the demand of the German miners' unions that the coal operators arrested Saturday be released. They will be arraigned tomorrow.

French troops were withdrawn from the occupied branches of the Reichsbank in Rhineland cities.

Acting under French and Belgian protection, leaders in the German movement for separating the Rhineland from Germany are becoming active in the occupied zone.

Representatives of German coal and iron magnates arrived in London to buy coal. It is reported they will purchase coal and steel in the United States.

Reparations commission met in Paris, but the French failed to submit their proposals for a German indemnity moratorium because they were not complete.

Amsterdam hears a report from Berlin that treason proceedings may be commenced against Germans who are agitating for secession of the Rhineland from Germany.

MAYOR FINES MAN $600 AFTER POLICE GET BOOZE, STILL

George Ferman In City Jail
Working Out Fines On Two Charges.

One of the stiffest fines handed out by Mayor John W. Post in some time was assessed against George Ferman of West Salem Heights, Monday morning, when he was fined $600 on charges of manufacturing and possessing liquor illegally.

Ferman was arrested at his home about 8:30 p. m. Sunday by Chief of Police T. W. Thompson, Officers Kirkbride and Kirchgessner and Fire Chief Vincent Malloy. A quantity of whisky and a small still were confiscated.

Ferman spent the night in jail and when arraigned Monday morning entered pleas of guilty to both charges. Ferman's daughter declared that the still had been left at their home by a former boarder and that this was their first attempt at making whisky. A fine of $300 on each charge was ordered, and Ferman remanded to jail when he declared his inability to pay. He will remain a prisoner until the full amount is paid.

"Lost" British Colonel Is Found In Ranks.

Col. T. E. Lawrence was one of the outstanding romantic heroes of the World War. Almost an Arab by inclination, he roused and waged the most picturesque campaign of the whole war. After the war the student soldier disappeared.

Now he has been found, as pictured here, enlisted in the aircraft service as a private soldier, using the name of Ross. His identity was discovered when an inspection officer came across his wonderful library, in ten tongues. He said he had "joined up" to get local color and to find time for his literary pursuits.

Knoxville, Tenn., Jan. 22.—A vigorous attack on Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and a demand for his resignation because of his attitude on prohibition, was made here today by "Billy" Sunday, the evangelist.

Sunday said prohibition from a standpoint of actual statistics, had done more for the working men than anything since the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

"If Gompers has nothing more important to do than campaign for the liquor interests, he has no business at the head of an organization that should be the backbone of the nation," said Sunday, "and I call upon him to resign and give a decent man a chance."

Seven inland hatcheries are now maintained by the state with several more in prospect. Money for the upkeep of fish and game activities is derived from the annual license fees paid by hunters.

REPUBLICANS MAY JOIN DONAHEY IN DUNN BILL ATTACK

Governor Seeks To Abolish Offices Created By

Columbus, Jan. 22.—Republican legislators may join Gov. Donahey in efforts to amend the Dunn emergency act, under the provisions of which the state government was re-organized by former Gov. Davis.

It was intimated today that Republican solons may seek to abolish the office of state director of finance. This position pays $6,500 a year. Abolition, it was said, would probably be sought on the ground that the work of the director of finance and his staff can be performed by the state auditor.

Gov. Donahey, in a message to the legislature this week, is expected to deal with his recommendation that the position of state director of commerce be abolished as an unnecessary office. This also pays $6,500.

The governor too is expected to advise amendment of the Dunn act by restoring the board system of control over state benevolent and penal institutions and again vesting in such a board the purchasing of supplies for these institutions. Much complaint has been registered against the present system of making purchases for these institutions through the state purchasing agent. It is claimed that much delay and trouble have been caused by the present plan.

Another complaint is that the Dunn act vests in the state highway director too much control over building operations at state institutions. Various organizations throughout the state, it is said, are urging that the power of choosing the state director of health be placed in a bi-partisan health council and that the health director be appointed to a five-year term.

The Broadstone Ku Klux Klan bill, making the killing of any person by masked persons punishable by death, is scheduled to come up for passage in the house tomorrow. The Bender bill, strengthening the Crabbe dry enforcement act, is to come up for passage in the senate this week.

Appearing in person before the house naval affairs committee, Denby made a plea for funds to provide battleships with adequate protection against torpedo and aircraft attack.

Pastors Review History Of Prohibition Movement

Celebrating the third anniversary of the writing of the 18th amendment into the constitution of the United States, several ministers of the city Sunday preached sermons along the line of temperance.

Rev. H. H. Scott, pastor of the M. E. church, at the morning service gave a general summary of the history of the temperance movement.

Rev. Mr. Scott pointed out that the first colonial congress in 1774 took action against the rapidly increasing distilleries. He mentioned events that have occurred from the beginning of the republic that led up to the final consummation in the 18th amendment. These were the Washingtonian pledge signing started in 1840; Prohibition party, 1869; Crusaders, 1873; Women's Christian Temperance Union, 1874; Anti Saloon League, 1890.

He spoke of the visible results of prohibition and of the constant propaganda emanating from the brewery interests in Europe and America. He closed his sermon with an appeal to the people to respect the law and to seek its enforcement.

Rev. H. L. Miller, pastor of the Christian church, read the 18th amendment at the morning service at his church and reviewed its history and causes that led up to it. He emphasized the sacredness of law, and pointed out that personal rights should be sacrificed for the good of the nation as a whole.

Sunday evening Dr. P. H. Gordon, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, preached on "The Conquering Hosts of God." His sermon was along the line of temperance and law enforcement.

Bible Guides Man's Way From Earth To Heaven Says Pastor

"What the Bible Says About God" was the subject of a splendid sermon preached by Rev. M. M. Coffin Sunday evening at the First Friends church. He emphasized God's omnipotence and omniscience and admonished his auditors to prepare to meet God.

This is the first of a series of four sermons relating to "What the Bible Says." These are the subjects for the next three Sunday evenings. "What the Bible Says About Satan," "What the Bible Says About Hell" and "What the Bible Says About Heaven."

"Temptation" will be the subject discussed at the prayer service Wednesday evening, which will be followed by the monthly meeting of the church.

OIL FEEDS FLAMES AS SALINEVILLE LANDMARK BURNS

Blaze Continues Unchecked
From Saturday Night
To Early Monday.

5,000 GALLONS OF
OIL IS CONSUMED

Old Flour Mill Destroyed
In Spectacular Fire
In Salineville.

Burning all night and all day Sunday, fire destroyed an old Salineville landmark, the old Black & McGarry flour mill.

Stored in the building were between 4,000 and 5,000 gallons of oil belonging to the Freedom Oil company. This fed the flames, which mounted high and illuminated the sky for miles around. The exact loss can not be estimated, although it is expected to be heavy. The building was still burning early Monday morning, having started at 11 o'clock Saturday night.

The Salineville street lights are turned off at 11 o'clock. The blaze was first discovered shortly after that time by Gilbert Mercer, a railroad man, working on a pusher engine in the yards. With L. S. Carhart, another railroad man, Mercer gave the alarm and started to fight the flames.

The volunteers responded. Several lines of hose were laid. It was soon discovered that the inadequate equipment of the local department could not be expected to cope with the intensity of the blaze. The heat drove the firemen back. They then turned their attention to adjacent buildings. The old flour mill, now in use as a storage warehouse, was completely gutted but other surrounding buildings were saved.

The burning oil illuminated the sky and much attention was attracted to the blaze, especially so because of the fact that the Salineville street lights were out. The oil was contained in cans. The exploding of these from time to time, added to the general confusion. It was mostly carbon oil.

Several times buildings nearby were threatened with destruction. John L. Huston, a Salineville undertaker, had a quantity of furniture and equipment, including a hoarse, stored in a stable next door. These were taken from the stable where they had been placed in storage. However, the building did not catch fire.

In the lower part of the gutted building, were stables containing two teams of horses. Both teams were saved. The harness and wagon belonging to the Freedom Oil company were destroyed. One team belonged to James Hunter, and the other, driven by Joe Hunter, was the property of the oil company. Hunter stated that he lost several valuable papers in the fire.

The building which is owned by Walter Holt, has played an important part in Salineville history. It is at least 50 years old. First constructed for use as a flour mill it was owned and occupied by the firm of Black & McGarry. The building is located in what is known as Wheeler's ward in the eastern part of the town.

Ponzi Soon Forgotten!

ALTHOUGH the exposure of Ponzi is so recent the director of the United States government savings system finds it necessary to issue another warning against swindlers and fake stock operators. The government is paying out approximately $625,000,000 on insured war savings stamps. Payment hardly had begun when agents of the treasury and of the postoffice discovered that these small investors were being waylaid by schemers with extravagant proposals for reinvestment of their savings in all sorts of worthless projects.

The public soon forgets and it is possible many of these savings already have been exchanged for beautifully engraved certificates which represent nothing but promises of quick wealth. The government still offers safe investments at four per cent of taxes into which these savings may be converted.

There is no reason why all the remaining savings now due should not be reinvested safely. Besides the government offerings there are other safe stock and bond investments. What is needed is the co-operation of legitimate agencies. The warnings against frauds should be "broadcast." There should be concerted efforts to direct the thrifty small saver to safe investments.

Much will be accomplished if the public can be agitated by warnings to beware of swindlers. In a full revival of the campaign against vendors of fake securities and fake schemes to acquire sudden wealth, which was so effective immediately following the Ponzi exposure and others of less magnitude, lies the hope that these millions being paid out by the government will be saved to their owners and safely reinvested. All honest citizens can help by reporting every investment offer that comes to their attention, so that the bad may be detected and exposed.

Wallace Reid
WALLACE REID is dead. There, with the final curtain, roll away into obscurity the hopes, fears, aspirations, achievements of years of effort. For illusion, no matter how deftly built, lives but a day. And Wallace Reid dealt solely in illusion. He imparted chuckles and cheer, relaxation, romance and, often, tears. According to the hard laws of economy he produced nothing; yet he helped mightily to conserve the energy of those who saw him upon the silver screen. And who shall say, in such a case, just where conservation ends and production begins?

Perhaps the role that he played in death is of greater moment than any that he played when living. That a man so well known and admired by millions should succumb to the evil of narcotics is a greater sermon than could be delivered from any pulpit or rostrum. He was a young man, of splendid strength, yet he could not successfully resist the undermining power of unnatural stimulants.

In the end he realized his tremendous folly. He set himself to undo the damage that had been done. He fought a good fight, a magnificent fight. But even a dauntless spirit, and ministrations of a devoted wife, all the artifices of medical skill, failed to save a broken body. An out-faded system exacted its penalty.

The fate of Wallace Reid should be a constant lesson to those who seek rest or stimulation through this false channel.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., El. Wayne, Ind.

CHURCHES

FIRST CHRISTIAN

Tuesday night there will be a conference of the graduate section and a good Jewell is the leader at the Spencer prayer service this week, his subject being "Christ's Temptation and Ours."

At 7 p. m. Thursday the classes will assemble for the lectures on "The Behaviour of Jesus" and the reading and discussion of literature. Rev. H. L. Miller is the leader. Every one is welcome to join these classes, whether a member of the church or not. The literary discussion begins at 7:45 and those not caring to attend both sessions may come for the one of their choice.

The choir of this church has organized and some extraordinary work along musical lines is being anticipated. It is planned to strengthen the membership of the choir and to conduct this organization on a business basis. A membership committee will be named this week to solicit the services of all singers in the church. J. J. Isensee is the director. Any desired information may be secured by communicating with Mrs. L. B. Harris, president.

The women of the church will serve a chicken and waffle supper at the church next Saturday night.

EPISCOPAL

At 2:30 Tuesday the Mothers meeting will be held at the Parish hall. Choir practice at 4 p. m. Wednesday. The juniors of the G. F. S. will meet to prepare for their Lent work at 4 p. m. Friday.

The parish council will meet at 7:30 p. m. Friday. The council is composed of the vestry, ten elect members and all officers of the parish.

From 2 to 5 p. m. Saturday the women will hold a food sale at Mrs. J. R. Bustard's, 354 Lincoln ave. All friends of the parish are invited to send food of any kind and attend.

CORN KING CLUB
INCREASED TO 48

About one in five of the 31 Ohio farmers who tried last summer to grow on 10 acres 1,000 bushels of air-dried shelled corn, succeeded, and will be inducted into the Ohio "Hundred Bushel Corn Club" during Farmers' Week at the Ohio State university, Jan. 29-Feb. 2.

This club is so called because it is limited to farmers who have raised 100 bushels to the acre on the contest, under official rules of the contest, adopted and put into effect in 1917.

Since 1917, 273 farmers have tried for the club and, counting in the six whose records met the requirement in 1922, and who are to be taken into the organization at Farmers' Week, 48 farmers have won membership.

The six who survive from the 1922 contest are led by William Gilmore of Licking county, whose yield of 134.31 bushels to the acre on 10 acres is said to establish a world's record. The others are: Marvin Cox of Muskingum county, 109 bushels to the acre; Ira C. Marshall of Hancock county, 106 bushels to the acre; John Gleason of Clinton county, 102 bushels to the acre; Paul Cromley of Pickaway county, 100 bushels to the acre.

The average yield of the 31 contestants in 1922 was 87 bushels to the acre, as compared to an average of 39 bushels for Ohio farmers in general.

YOUNG ROYALTY'S
MARRIAGE OFFERS
FINANCIAL WORRY

London, Jan. 22.—The coming marriage of the Duke of York to Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, daughter of the Earl of Strathmore, brings before the British people a question which has not arisen in many years but which, in times past, has been a point of difference, and sometimes of bitter feeling, between the crown and parliament. This question is the financing of a younger member of the royal family.

estates, appertaining to his title, which are sufficient for his support. Princess Mary married one of the richest men in the kingdom, Viscount Lascelles, so there was no difficulty in her case, although King George had many precedents for going to parliament for a money grant if he had thought it necessary to do so.

The king's youngest sons, in starting households of their own, must have subsidies appropriate to their stations in life, and parliament either must take grants for them or their father must finance them from his own fortune. Although King George's wealth is a matter of guess work, he probably might well afford to launch his sons in life financially if it was judged by ordinary standards; but custom, strong in England, entitles him to expect the national exchequer to provide for them.

Custom forbids the king's sons to work for a living, except in such employment as the army or navy, where the pay is insignificant. It also compels them to live up to their position.

The embarrassing duty fell on Queen Victoria of approaching parliament for grants for her younger children and also, because she remained so long on the throne, for her grandchildren, the daughters of King Edward.

On every occasion there was opposition in parliament, which grieved and irritated the queen. Even in those days there were radical members of the house of commons which insisted on asking what these minor members of the royal family did for the nation to earn their lavish upkeep.

LEAF-SPOT DISEASE INJURES CHERRY TREES

Cherry leaf-spot or shot-hole disease caused serious falling of leaves from many trees in mid-summer last year and so weakened the trees that winter killing may be expected. Since spores live over winter on the fallen leaves, a serious recurrence of the disease next summer is expected by Experiment station botanists.

In experiments conducted by these specialists, bordeaux mixture proved very effective in controlling the disease on sour cherry trees. However, bordeaux cannot be used on sweet cherry foliage. Lime-sulphur, they found, may be used on either sweet or sour cherries with fairly good results. Self-boiled lime-sulphur and its substitutes are not recommended.

The Bordeaux spray is applied just after the blossoms fall and again after the fruit is gathered.

From Clerk To President In 27 Years.

Howard W. Fenton.

OVERCOAT "ONE BEST BET"

Surely No Other Lifeless Thing Can Be Said to Serve Man More Faithfully.

When the mercury placidly commences its methodical, if jerky, downward spin toward its winter landing field, it is resultant that man of moderate means must prowl into the old cedar chest or the anti-moth hanging bag for that veteran of many storms—the ancient overcoat.

He is a thing of many memories and much abuse, this old overcoat. He has served as faithfully and long, and his only reward, aside from a lingering love and esteem, is a summer vacation spent in the attic, where it is probably not less than 100 degrees during the entire period.

But he drags himself out of his cache with a somewhat bedraggled sort of smile and promises to do the best he can for another term, if we will only send him to the shop for a bit of polishing.

"You certainly haven't the crust to send me out on the streets looking like this!" we can imagine him exclaiming. "I'm a perfect sight!"

Good old Bennie—the one garment, perhaps, that is never thrown away!

When he becomes too dissolute and disreputable even for us, we pass him on to the Salvation army, or some good distributing agency, and his service continues. His pride is not consulted in such transfer, poor old thing. Like the crack fire horse of yore, who now pulls a garbage wagon or something, Bennie may have to patronize "dop houses" instead of fancy cafes.

But he does it. He sticks to his master, whoever it may be, until the bitter end.

And what, by the way, really is the end of an overcoat?—Omaha World Herald.

Texas Senator May Be Unseated

Senator Sheppard & Senator Mayfield.

United States Senator Earle B. Mayfield of Texas, shown here with Senator Morris Sheppard of the same state, is to take office on March 4, but his early arrival in Washington has revived talk that efforts will be made to unseat him as soon as he is sworn in. According to capitol gossip, the case will outrank the Newberry case, since Mayfield's election was based largely on the belief that he was a member of the Ku Klux Klan, the backing of which organization he is supposed to have had.

WHAT MONEY CROPS MAY FARMERS GROW IN 1923?

In discussing this question which is puzzling many farmers at this time, C. W. Montgomery of the Ohio Experiment station mentions the grass crop, corn, oats and soybeans.

Before growing any crop, he says, the farmer should determine what he is going to do with it. The present market price of hay may discourage its production for sale, but fair profits may be secured by feeding it to livestock on the farm. When prices of hay are likely to be low, a legume crop may be grown to plow under instead of hay for market.

The present outlook for livestock, Mr. Montgomery believes, would justify an increase in the acreage planted in corn. In sections where oats yield well and where dairy cattle are kept, oats can usually be grown cheaper than an equivalent amount of bran feed can be purchased for the dairy herd. Oats in these sections may also replace a part of the corn in the rations for sheep and horses.

Soybeans may take the place of oats in sections where the yields of the latter are low. Where clover and alfalfa do well, they may be grown for hay. Soybeans, however, are recommended where clover and oats fail to produce good crops.

BUILD IT NOW

It is our opinion based on a survey of the conditions in Salem that there will be a greater demand for new homes this year than there has been for some time—and we feel that the advice to "Build Now" is not an unwarranted answer to the inquiries we have received so far in January.

Homes built for investment should be ready for occupancy by April first and not later than May first. Contractors are in a position now to accept orders for early construction from those desiring to build their own homes—garages—porches—barns—poultry houses; or for those contemplating additions or repairs. Stocks are complete and supplies are available in larger quantities now than they will be in mid-summer.

It will be to the advantage of the home builder to consult his contractor now.

STOCKS YIELD

New York, Jan. 22.—The stock market was generally lower at the start today. Baldwin yielded 5/8 to 1 1/2, Standard 1/4 to 1 1/4, Pierce-Arrow 3/4 to 1 1/2, Utah Copper 1/4 to 3/4, New York Central 1/4 to 3/4 and Pan American Petroleum 1/4 to 3/4.

Trading was dull. The course of prices continued to be influenced by professional operations, but on the whole, the speculative element was maintaining a waiting attitude. Pools were again active in sending them forward moderately.

MEXICAN BEAN BEETLE COMING TOWARD OHIO

The Mexican Bean Beetle is rapidly advancing toward Ohio from Kansas where it was first found in 1920 and where it has utterly destroyed bean crops, say entomologists of the Ohio Experiment station.

This pest is one of the harmful members of the otherwise beneficial family of lady bird beetles. It is hemispherical in shape, about one fourth inch in diameter, copper to bright yellow in color, and has 16 black spots arranged in three rows across the wings.

The adult female lays as many as 1,500 eggs in a season. These are deposited on the under side of leaves, hatch in three or four days, where the larvae feed until ready to change into adults, in three or four weeks.

Arsenical sprays are the best control measure yet tried but are only partially successful.

The beetles reached central Kentucky in 1922 and are advancing toward the northeast at the rate of one hundred or more miles a year.

Entomologists are making a determined effort to control this pest. Any person finding the beetle as above described will greatly aid in the work by sending specimens to the Experiment station, Wooster, Ohio.

SOAKS RIGHT IN AND LIMBERS UP STIFF JOINTS

Pharmacists Call it "Joint Ease" Because it's for Swollen, Sore, Painful, Creaky Joints Only

It took a good many years to get together a combination of pain subduing and swelling reducing agents declared to be the one remedy that almost instantly penetrates through skin and flesh and starts right in to make swollen, inflamed, creaky, pain racked joints as good as new.

They call this new and wonderful preparation "Joint Ease" because the medical man who turned the trick, worked for years to perfect some low-priced remedy that would really benefit the millions of people who have one or more joints that need helpful attention.

So "Joint Ease" is prepared only for people who have a swollen, painful, creaky, distorted or stiff joint, whether it be in knee, elbow, shoulder, ankle, neck or finger and whether it is caused by rheumatism or something else.

Of course, it can't help but quickly put an end to such superficial ailments as lumbago, neuralgia, neuritis, aching muscles, stitch in the side, crick in the neck or sore foot because of its penetrating action, but what it is really recommended for is joint ailments of any nature whatever.

Ask for a tube of "Joint Ease." You can use it several times in one evening for quick results, because it goes right through the skin with only a few seconds' rubbing. It surely is a swift penetrator and when it gets under the skin it starts right in to clean up all joint trouble.

All druggists dispense it daily for about 60 cents a tube as do first class druggists everywhere.

THE UNEXPECTED

By MOLLIE MATHER

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Jimmy and Juliet had been friends since childhood. Almost from the first it had been understood that one day they would marry.

"When I grow up," Jimmy had boasted, "you will be my wife and ride in my big automobile."

"And have a pretty house with curtains," Juliet conceded; and with the ending of her high school days the making of lace for the curtains began. Jimmy worked steadily, saved systematically, and felt the importance of an engaged man.

The two mothers, neighbors of long standing, discussed happily the prospective union.

So time passed peacefully until Jimmy met Honore.

It was because her name was such a formal one that the young woman's friends preferred to call her Nora.

She was a companionable little person with captivating charms so hidden in demureness that one meeting her would be unaware of her attraction—an attraction which never failed to grow upon acquaintance—and was apt to keep on growing. So, poor Jimmy found later, to his alarm, he met Nora when she came to visit his mother and when Juliet was away on a long auto tour with her parents.

Oh, yes, Jimmy was in love; he admitted the fact despairingly with a following glow of secret happiness. And he was engaged to Juliet.

Julie was busy sewing—sewing things for the home that was to be theirs some day. How many hours they had spent looking over plans for that home—that must suit exactly Juliet's critical taste.

Now, Juliet was traveling, dreaming, no doubt, of this home to be, and of Jimmy's faithfulness. And he was in love with another woman—a woman older and more sophisticated than Juliet, so his mother told him, when she saw how things were going.

"I added a clean five years to Nora's age to discourage him," she remarked later to her husband. "There is not so much difference between his and Nora's age after all. She is merely playing with the boy's affections. Why will she do it?"

Nora stopped "playing." She stopped very suddenly. Jimmy had spoken his desperate love to her and Nora had listened. Then, in a care-free way, she had laughed and said: "Oh, forget it, Jimmy. It was not like Nora's usual demureness. 'Your mother has introduced me to Doctor Spencer,' Nora added. 'He says he will look after my entertainment during the rest of my stay—take me driving and all that. Thanks for what you have done, Jimmy.'"

After Jimmy had seen Nora driving with the doctor he packed a grip and went hunting.

It was the day that Mrs. Brown had chosen to go into the city, staying for evening theater with her husband, that word came of Jimmy's accident. He had fallen down a steep incline, breaking his arm and bruising his body.

Jimmy, alone with the Indian guide in the shack in the wood, sent in his loneliness, a night letter. The Indian had brought to him the Wannalo doctor.

The telegraph operator asked over the phone if he would read the night letter. Nora got the message in the morning. Mechanically, she turned again to the telephone and called Juliet.

"Oh, dear," wailed that young person. "What will we do about it? It is so difficult for one to get to Wannalo. I hope he will soon be feeling better. Do let me know at once if there is any later word."

"I am coming over to see you," Nora answered brusquely.

The candle on the box beside Jimmy's crude bed was burning low when the Indian heard a knock at the rough door. When he opened it he found a man and woman there. The man entered the cabin briskly and looked at the patient with shrewd professional eyes.

"Doctor Spencer!" Jimmy cried. "It is mighty good of you to come away out here. I suppose mother sent you. You must have traveled all day."

"Some one else brought me," the doctor smilingly replied, "and we have traveled all day."

The "some one" came out of the shadow; it was Nora. Nora with eyes warm with sympathy, twinkles in their dark depths as they rested on Jimmy's unbelieving face.

"Such miles of woods to scramble through to find you," she said. Then she bent to whisper in Jimmy's ear: "Only a woman who loves, as I love you, could have done it," she said.

Doctor Spencer was removing his coat in the kitchen corner. The Indian was busy making coffee.

"You—love—me?" murmured Jim, and you sent me away. You said the doctor—"

"Oh, the doctor," answered Nora unabashed, "was as good an excuse as any to keep you from loving me. But now—well, I am not afraid of shocking you, Jimmy, when I tell you what Juliet told me this morning when I went over to urge her to come here with me. There was a young man whom she met while traveling. He has a new bungalow, it seems, that is desirable—and Juliet wants to marry him. Oh, Jimmy!"

"My right arm is in pretty bad shape," remarked Jim irreverently, "but my left is still working."

SOUR STOMACH IS CAUSED BY ACIDS

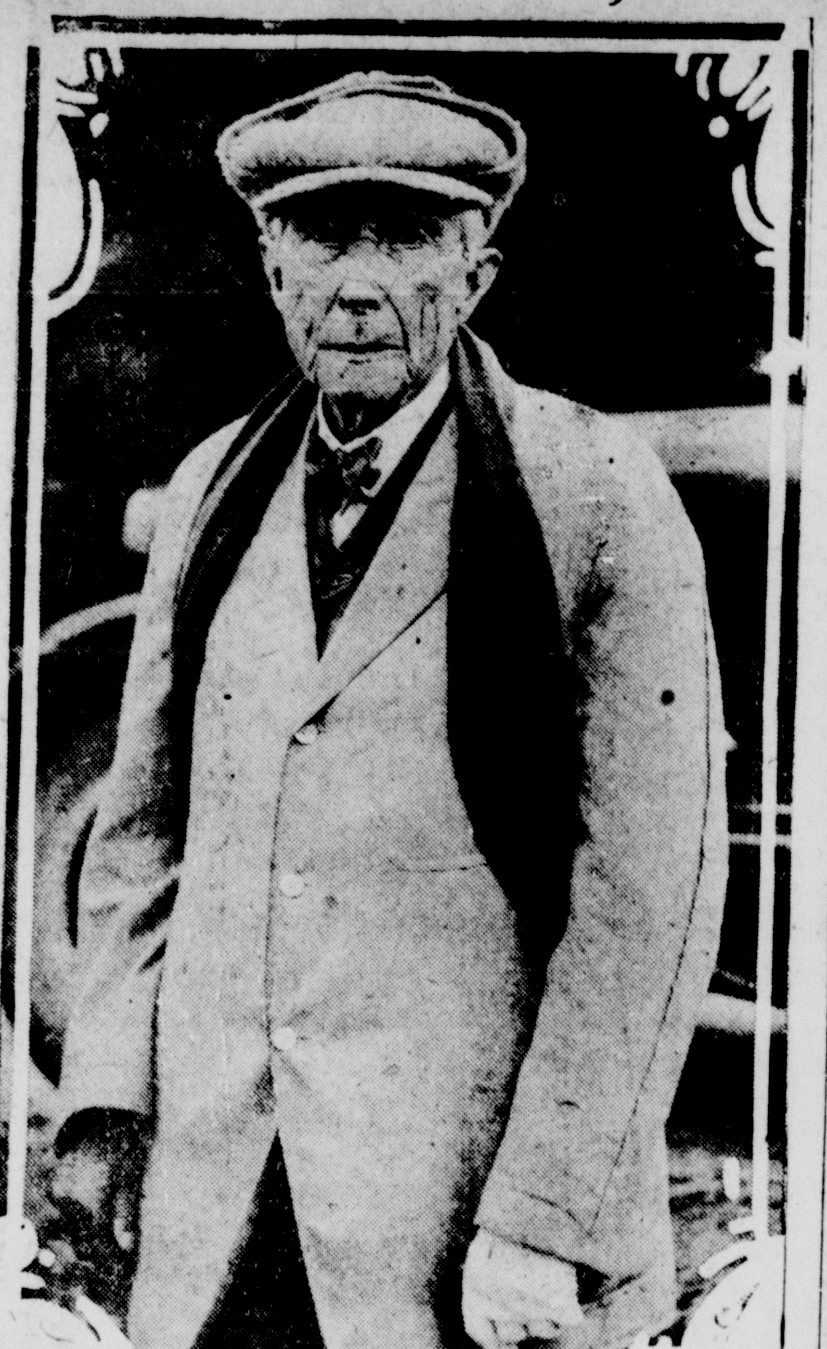

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat no sweets of any kind for a while, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of Jad Salts occasionally to help keep down uric and toxic acids.

Rheumatism is caused by poison toxins, called acids, which are generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this poison, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove body waste also to stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to

Barbara Frietchie No Myth Says Former Salem Man

W. W. Welch of Cleveland, former Salem man who has relatives here, has contributed the following interesting letter to The Plain Dealer:

"Editor Plain Dealer—Sir: On the editorial page of The Plain Dealer of Jan. 16 appeared an article under the caption, 'Barbara Frietchie a Myth,' written by a gentleman who represents himself as Dr. John C. French of the Johns Hopkins university. He announces that it is his conclusion that Barbara Frietchie never waved the Union flag over Stonewall Jackson and his rebel horde. I wish to correct the impression which this statement is very likely to leave in the minds of the American public. I quite agree with the doctor, but if he will investigate as thoroughly and dig down into all the facts in connection with that incident as I have done, he will not wish to leave a wrong impression in the minds of the public.

"At the time the poem was written, 1863, the town of Fredericktown was about equally divided between northern and southern sympathizers, and staunch Unionists had their flags floating in the breeze as did also the Confederate sympathizers. Barbara Frietchie had her flag nailed in her doorway. It was a small silken flag and as Stonewall Jackson's army was passing her home, it was completely disorganized. Upon seeing the Stars and Stripes, one of Stonewall's men tore it down and began wiping his feet on it. This, of course, aroused the ire of the old Scotch-Irish heroine and she seized her broom and drove him from her steps. Her old home was located on brick with two small dormer windows in front. It was one of these windows that the poet referred to when he wrote those beautiful lines. She leaned far out on the window sill and shook forth with a loyal will. So in this particular point the poet has, in order to put the story in verse, deviated from the real incidents which occurred on that cool September morn when Lee marched over the mountain wall into Fredericktown.

"In 1877 I had occasion to visit Fredericktown and while there I stood by the grave of this famous old lady immortalized by her daring patriotism. There were two American flags waving, one at the head and one at the foot of her grave. I was told that the citizens of Fredericktown had kept the flags waving constantly, ever reminding those who visit her resting place of her true loyalty to her country's flag. I became very much interested and enthusiastic and began an investigation of the whole affair and have as I firmly believe all the data which establishes the truthfulness of the story of Barbara Frietchie.

"I visited, while in Fredericktown, a nephew of Barbara's and was shown by him the identical flag that she defended which was a small silk revolutionary flag. I then, or some little time later, wrote to Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth, the great novelist who first conveyed to Whittier the incidents so beautifully interwoven in verse, and in reply I received a letter setting forth all the details under which the poem came to be written. Mrs. Southworth and Whittier were fast friends. Mrs. Southworth hearing of this story made a thorough investigation of it and found it substantially true. She then wrote to Whittier and related to him the incidents. Whittier in reply

Hurry Mother! A teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" now will thoroughly clean the little bowels and in a few hours you have a well, playful child again. Even if cross, feverish, bilious, constipated or full of cold, children love its "fruity" taste, and mothers can rest easy because it never fails to work all the souring food and nasty bile right out of the stomach and bowels without griping or upsetting the child.

Tell your druggist you want only the genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother, you must say "California." Refuse any imitation.

Records Patient's Rest.

Recording continuously the slightest movements of a patient in bed, and thereby determining the hours of complete and untroubled rest he has had, is an idea recently introduced. This result is obtained by first placing a sheet of rubber beneath one of the bed posts and attaching special apparatus to the post. The apparatus consists, briefly, of a lever, one end of which is fastened to the bed post, the other having a recording pen affixed to it. Underneath the pen is located a clock-work drum containing a chart divided into 24 hours, so that a continuous curve of the sleeper's movements is kept and may be consulted if it is desired to ascertain how he has rested, or to convince a patient that he has underrated his hours of rest.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Thin? Run-down? Sure Way to Get Right Weight

Increase Your Red-Blood-Cells. That's the Sure Way! S. S. S. Builds Blood-Cells; This Means Strength!

Do you know why insurance companies refuse to insure a great many men because they are under weight? Simply because to be under weight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus energy, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S. S. S., since 1875, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Hollow cheeks fill out. You stop being a calamity-looking. You inspire confidence. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S. S. S. will build them. Ladies and gentlemen, a peppy, bony face doesn't make you look very important or pretty, does it? Take S. S. S. It contains only pure vegetable medicinal ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

HELP FOR EUROPE IS BIG PROBLEM

FEW MEN IN CONGRESS AGREE ON MEANS THE UNITED STATES MIGHT ADOPT.

PRESIDENT MUCH HAMPERED

Any Effective Program Which the Administration Might Think Wise Would Require Congressional Sanction—World Waiting for Harding.

By EDWARD B. CLARK
Washington.—Barring the division of opinion on the wisdom of entering the League of Nations, there are not ten men in either house of congress apparently who are agreed upon any one means by which the United States can help to untangle the tangled affairs of the Old World.

When George Washington delivered his farewell address—believed by many men to have been written by Alexander Hamilton—if he had omitted all reference to entangling alliances the chances are that some of the stock in trade of the present congressional orators who speak on foreign relations would have been lost. Washington's utterance is used, curiously enough, as if it were intended to mean two things. "Some members of congress read certain meanings between the lines, while others say there is nothing written between the lines and that the utterance was "straight, direct and specific."

Any effective program for helping to straighten out European affairs must have the sanction of the American congress. There are certain things which the President can do alone, but they are not far-reaching in their effects. Even loans to relieve troubles abroad must get congressional sanction. As has been written many times before, the belief still is here that the administration would like to go much farther afield in an effort to help Europe than congress is willing that it should go.

How the President is Hampered.
Now it may be that if a vote in congress could be taken immediately after the submission of a plan for helping Europe, the President's suggestions might be upheld; but inasmuch as the senate is a law unto itself, a minority there can block any administration movement that it chooses to block.

Another thing which stands in the way of presidential endeavor to do something which in administration thought might help Europe, is the fact that the Republican majority both in house and senate is divided in its views as to what should be done in the case in hand.

Some Republicans and some Democrats with them do not desire that anything shall be done, while others want much to be done that others still believe is going too far in the way of what might be called intervention. The President has to take into consideration the fact that his own political party is likely to be divided in opinion on anything which he may propose.

It is still evident that something shortly is to be done, or at any rate an attempt is to be made to do something. The story that went flashing throughout the country to the effect that an enormous loan was to be made to Germany by the United States to enable it to meet its debts, was denied overnight. It seemingly took the denial a long time to catch up with the original tale and perhaps yet it has not overtaken it.

Various Stories Denied.
Another story to the effect that a commission was to be appointed to confer with European commissioners also was denied. Other stories of other kinds had denials sent out on their trail within a few hours of the time they were given their start.

A great many bitter things are being said in Washington concerning the whole situation by men who think that the United States can straighten out Europe if it so desires and who think also that the straightening out of the financial affairs over there means the straightening out of financial affairs all through the world and the almost immediate return of general prosperity. On the other hand, there are men here who urge that any kind of an attempt to intervene in Europe, even if the intention is helpful, will result only in the entangling of the United States in matters with which it has no business to meddle, and that something quite the reverse of prosperity will result if the course is insisted upon.

Washington, and presumably the country with it, is engaged in what Mr. Wilson called "watchful waiting" for something to come from the administration which looks like a proposition to straighten out the world's troubles. Europe is also watching and waiting. Something is coming. What is it to be?

Some Consolation.
"My boy, Runt, was playing with my pistol yesterday," related Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, "and somehow or nuther it went off and shot him in the leg."

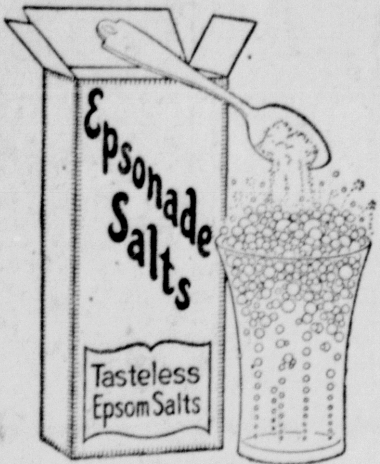

"That was too, darn bad!" commented the listener.

"Eh-yah! But it mought a-been worse. I've got 13 other children and Runt's got another leg. That makes 27 legs that hain't been—p'nt—shot yet, not counting mine and the old woman's."—Kansas City Star.

TWO FINES UNPAID, HE'S FINED AGAIN

Lisbon, Jan. 22.—Nick Buta, who has had two unpaid fines for violation of the prohibition laws hanging over him, was arrested again by Officer Lewton, who accompanied by Mayor Bean, went to his home in the east end of Lisbon and brought him to the city jail. When arraigned before the mayor, Saturday evening, he pleaded guilty to possessing liquor and was fined $500 and costs, in default of which he was sent to the county jail. When Mayor Bean and Officer Lewton arrived at the Buta place a search revealed three gallons of liquor and six gallons of wine which were confiscated. The container which held the raisin jack had the appearance of having been buried, but was in the house when the officers arrived. Buta is indebted to Mayor Bean on an old liquor fine and had promised to come up with $25 Saturday night to be applied on that. He is also owing a big fine in the court of Mayor Ferren of East Palestine, which he promised to pay in installments.

BLACK DAMP KILLS TWO, THREE OTHER MEN ARE OVERCOME

Youngstown, Jan. 22.—Two men were killed and three were overcome by "black damp" in an old coal mine just north of this city Sunday.

The dead are: Mark Whalen, 55, 1427 Oak st., Youngstown, pipe fitter employed by the Republic Rubber Corporation. Harry Gordon, 65, water tender at the mine, employed by the same company.

Those overcome are: M. D. Bush, North Lima, electrician for the company. Lawrence Dahlman, city fireman and rescue worker. W. A. Havens, superintendent of blast furnaces at Republic Iron & Steel Co., who also was aiding in rescue work.

Water which had collected in the mine is used by the Republic Rubber Corporation to augment the regular supply at its plant here, it being taken out by an electrically operated pump in the mine.

Whalen, Gordon and Bush entered the mine at 4:30 a. m. Sunday, to raise the pump to a higher level. The two men in the lead dropped, and Bush was endeavoring to pull them out, but found himself fainting from the damp. He left the mine and unmoned help.

City firemen were summoned and made an unsuccessful effort to bring out the men, Dahlman being overcome and dragged from the place by a rope which had been attached to his body.

Wearing an oxygen helmet, Supt. Havens went in, but he, too, was overcome. When fresh supplies of oxygen had been obtained, however, he succeeded in reaching the bodies of Whalen and Gordon, which were dragged out. The men had been dead some time.

Coal Output Reaches Peak Of The Season

Washington, Jan. 22.—Production of both bituminous coal and anthracite is now greater than it has ever been this season of the year, according to estimates made public today by the geological survey. For the week ending Saturday, the total output of bituminous was placed in the neighborhood of 11,000,000 tons, with anthracite production approximately 2,000,000 tons.

Increase in the daily average output from the bituminous mines which have been noted, since the Christmas holidays, the survey said, can be attributed to betterment of transportation conditions. East of the Mississippi river, it was added, consumers have been taking every ton of soft coal it has been possible to mine and transport, but west of the Mississippi the supply has exceeded the demand in many places, and mine operations have been closed down because of lack of market.
